Updating estimates post Q1'26: asset quality in focus, but strong path ahead for NII & returns

HSBC's 1Q26 underlying PBT of US$10.1bn came in line with company-compiled consensus, with higher-than-expected non-NII partly offset by higher-than-expected credit costs and opex. Shares in HSBC closed down 5-6% with investor discussions centring on asset quality, opex, and capital returns. Below we run through each of these points and layout updates to our forecasts.

Q1 Focus Areas

(1) Asset quality — HSBC posted higher than expected credit costs in Q1 including an expected -$0.3bn relating to ongoing tensions in the Middle East and an unexpected -$0.4bn fraud related charge in the UK. Despite this unexpected charge HSBC noted that it remains comfortable with its overall portfolio (with the increase to FY26 CoR guidance to 45bps mainly reflecting the 1Q print of 52bps). Management highlighted ongoing market volatility and uncertainty around the duration of tensions (i.e. prudence) as the main driver to the expected CoR outcome for the remaining 9 months of the year. Given the higher provisions in 1Q and the buffer now built into guidance, we raise our FY26 credit cost assumption to 45bps (from 41bps).

(2) Opex — management reiterated confidence in holding to c.1% target basis cost growth, despite costs running at c.3% y/y on a target basis in 1Q. With the higher-than-expected cost number in Q1 attributed to the timing of variable pay accruals through the year (and variance in this phasing 2026 vs 2025). They noted that simplification actions will be completed by mid-year, with savings becoming cumulatively more visible in 2H, which should allow them to remain within the c.1% guidance.

(3) Capital returns and buybacks — HSBC reiterated that buybacks will be assessed on a quarterly basis. Given HSBC's strong capital generation, we believe buybacks can resume relatively soon and model $1.5bn to be declared at 2Q'26E, driving $5.5bn across FY26E.

Encouraging signs on core investment drivers

Within the Q1 print we see the progress on fees and NII (where Banking NII guidance was raised) as particularly encouraging.

1) Fee incomes grew 6% on an underlying basis in Q1 driven by the wealth management business. Management noted that while there was a brief slowdown in flows in the early phase of the conflict, activity recovered in April across the wealth franchise in Asia. HSBC also highlighted that insurance growth can appear weaker in the P&L due to CSM recognition mechanics, which are incorporated gradually across a 9-10 year period, meaning that reported P&L captures only a fraction of the growing CSM balance. Overall, wealth momentum has continued, and we expect this to persist given the structural tailwinds in Asia. In Q1 specifically HSBC brought in $39bn in net new money (of which $34bn was in Asia), equivalent to a c.10% NNM run-rate on an annualised basis.

2) Banking NII grew by 3% y/y with FY26 guidance raised from at least $45bn to c.$46bn reflecting the improved interest rate outlook. Deposits grew 5% y/y (+6% including held-for-sale businesses) and loans grew 4% y/y. This sustained momentum in deposit growth coupled with the tailwind from higher rates underpins our above consensus and positive view on Banking NII in both 2026 (GSe $46.6bn) and the coming years.

Forward trajectory and updated forecasts

All in, while today's investor discussions centred on concerns around asset quality, we believe these remain manageable with higher CoR guidance more reflective of prudence than concern. On the more positive side, continued fee income growth, along with a more favourable rate environment supporting NII, will continue to provide tailwinds to the P&L through the balance of the year (effectively offsetting higher CoR).

Following Q1 results we update our forecasts to reflect 1) slightly higher Banking NII and non-NII more than offsetting 2) slightly higher operating expenses leaving PPP effectively flat in 2026 and c.+2% across 2027-29. Higher provisions in 2026 (following the Q1 print and revised 2026 guidance) more than offset the improved PPP outlook leaving PBT slightly lower and earnings effectively unchanged vs our prior forecast. For 2027+ the increase to our provision forecasts are much smaller (non-repeat of the ECL charge and single name case with a financial sponsor in UK) and our earnings estimates increase slightly. At EPS our forecasts remains broadly unchanged for 2026E (despite c.7% higher LLPs), while our 2027/28E EPS forecasts increase by c.2%. Our price target for HSBA.L increases 3% to GBp1700 (GBp1,650 previously) as we roll forward our P/E valuation methodology to apply 75%/25% to 2027/28E estimates (vs wholly on 2027E previously) using an unchanged 12.0x multiple, while our price target for 0005.HK likewise increases 3% to HKD165 (from HKD160), on the back of our estimate changes.

We remain Buy, and continue to see HSBC offering a near-unique combination of: a) a scaled deposit franchise, b) consistent and structural growth and c) a liquidity focused balance sheet. This capital-light, liability-led growth strategy benefits from structural dynamics underpinning the Deposit and Wealth trends in SE Asia (see: Riding Asia's liquidity wave; the earnings engine of HK/ SG Banks) as well as elevated global rates.

Price Target Risks and Methodology – HSBC Holdings (0005.HK)

Our 12-month price target of HK$165 is based on a two-stage DDM. Downside risks include: 1) Weaker-than-expected Banking NII, including faster-than-expected Fed rate cuts, or a widening gap between HIBOR and Fed rates; 2) Slower-than-expected non-NII growth, including a potential slow down in global trade or increased competition from peers; 3) Reversal/pause of positive operating efficiency trajectory if simplification efforts are impacted adversely.

Price Target Risks and Methodology - HSBC Holdings (HSBA.L)

Our 12-month price target of GBp1,700 is based on a P/E methodology, using a 12.0x target multiple applied 75%/25% to our 2027/28E EPS forecasts, vs an average target multiple of c. 10.5x for our European Banks coverage, reflecting in part various structural advantages held by HSBC, including its deposit-centric growth (capital-light income, with associated hedge benefits), across a range of supportive regions/products, alongside meaningful opportunities for non-NII growth via the Wealth segment.

Downside risks include: 1) Weaker-than-expected Banking NII, including faster-than-expected Fed rate cuts, or a widening gap between HIBOR and Fed rate; 2) Slower-than-expected non-NII growth, including a potential slowdown in global trade or increased competition from peers; 3) Reversal/pause of positive operating efficiency trajectory if simplification efforts are impacted adversely.

GS Factor Profile

The Goldman Sachs Factor Profile provides investment context for a stock by comparing key attributes to the market (i.e. our universe of rated stocks) and its sector peers. The four key attributes depicted are: Growth, Financial Returns, Multiple (e.g. valuation) and Integrated (a composite of Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple). Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple are calculated by using normalized ranks for specific metrics for each stock. The normalized ranks for the metrics are then averaged and converted into percentiles for the relevant attribute. The precise calculation of each metric may vary depending on the fiscal year, industry and region, but the standard approach is as follows:

Growth is based on a stock's forward-looking sales growth, EBITDA growth and EPS growth (for financial stocks, only EPS and sales growth), with a higher percentile indicating a higher growth company. Financial Returns is based on a stock's forward-looking ROE, ROCE and CROCI (for financial stocks, only ROE), with a higher percentile indicating a company with higher financial returns. Multiple is based on a stock's forward-looking P/E, P/B, price/dividend (P/D), EV/EBITDA, EV/FCF and EV/Debt Adjusted Cash Flow (DACF) (for financial stocks, only P/E, P/B and P/D), with a higher percentile indicating a stock trading at a higher multiple. The Integrated percentile is calculated as the average of the Growth percentile, Financial Returns percentile and (100% - Multiple percentile).

Financial Returns and Multiple use the Goldman Sachs analyst forecasts at the fiscal year-end at least three quarters in the future. Growth uses inputs for the fiscal year at least seven quarters in the future compared with the year at least three quarters in the future (on a per-share basis for all metrics).

M&A Rank

Across our global coverage, we examine stocks using an M&A framework, considering both qualitative factors and quantitative factors (which may vary across sectors and regions) to incorporate the potential that certain companies could be acquired. We then assign a M&A rank as a means of scoring companies under our rated coverage from 1 to 3, with 1 representing high (30%-50%) probability of the company becoming an acquisition target, 2 representing medium (15%-30%) probability and 3 representing low (0%-15%) probability. For companies ranked 1 or 2, in line with our standard departmental guidelines we incorporate an M&A component into our target price. M&A rank of 3 is considered immaterial and therefore does not factor into our price target, and may or may not be discussed in research.

Ratings, coverage universe and related definitions

Buy (B), Neutral (N), Sell (S) Analysts recommend stocks as Buys or Sells for inclusion on various regional Investment Lists. Being assigned a Buy or Sell on an Investment List is determined by a stock's total return potential relative to its coverage universe. Any stock not assigned as a Buy or a Sell on an Investment List with an active rating (i.e., a stock that is not Rating Suspended, Not Rated, Early-Stage Biotech, Coverage Suspended or Not Covered), is deemed Neutral. Each region manages Regional Conviction Lists, which are selected from Buy rated stocks on the respective region's Investment Lists and represent investment recommendations focused on the size of the total return potential and/or the likelihood of the realization of the return across their respective areas of coverage. The addition or removal of stocks from such Conviction Lists are managed by the Investment Review Committee or other designated committee in each respective region and do not represent a change in the analysts' investment rating for such stocks.

Total return potential represents the upside or downside differential between the current share price and the price target, including all paid or anticipated dividends, expected during the time horizon associated with the price target. Price targets are required for all covered stocks. The total return potential, price target and associated time horizon are stated in each report adding or reiterating an Investment List membership.

Coverage Universe: A list of all stocks in each coverage universe is available by primary analyst, stock and coverage universe at <https://www.gs.com/research/hedge.html>.

Not Rated (NR). The investment rating, target price and earnings estimates (where relevant) are removed pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when Goldman Sachs is acting in an advisory capacity in a merger or in a strategic transaction involving this company, when there are legal, regulatory or policy constraints due to Goldman Sachs' involvement in a transaction, and in certain other circumstances. Early-Stage Biotech (ES). An investment rating and a target price are not assigned pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when this company has neither a drug, treatment or medical device that has passed a Phase II clinical trial nor a license to distribute a post-Phase II drug, treatment or medical device. Rating Suspended (RS). Goldman Sachs Research has suspended the investment rating and price target for this stock, because there is not a sufficient fundamental basis for determining an investment rating or target price. The previous investment rating and target price, if any, are no longer in effect for this stock and should not be relied upon. Coverage Suspended (CS). Goldman Sachs has suspended coverage of this company. Not Covered (NC). Goldman Sachs does not cover this company.
