

Standard Chartered Plc (HK) (2888)

A refresher on 4Q25 preview and key debates

STAN's share price is up 1.7% year-to-date, underperforming the Hang Seng Financials Index by 6.2ppt, and we view the current valuation of 1.1x PB on 11.6% normalized ROE in 2026E as attractive. The key near-term catalyst is the upcoming 4Q25 result, scheduled for release on February 24th. This note is a refresher of the 4Q25 preview (link) and outlines consensus and client expectations. Sell-side consensus anticipates flattish PPOP growth y/y, but ~30% y/y growth in normalized PBT, primarily reflecting the absence of last year's software impairment charges. We expect market attention to center on management's guidance for ROTE and total return. In our view, guidance for a flattish or a mid-teens FY26 ROTE would be viewed as a positive surprise.

- Expectation for 4Q25: Both JPMe and company-compiled consensus forecast 4Q25 revenue growth of 0% and 2% y/y, respectively. Net interest income (NII) is expected to be broadly flat q/q but decline by high single digits y/y, offset by robust y/y growth in non-NII, driven mainly by Wealth income. Normalized PBT is projected to rise 25%/33% y/y, reflecting the absence of the $353mn software impairment recorded in 4Q24. Normalized ROTE for 4Q25 is estimated at 8.0%/8.5%, translating to FY25 ROTE of 13.8%/13.9%. Both JPMe and consensus anticipate a US$1.5bn share buyback announcement in 4Q25 print, up from US$1.3bn in 1H25. Please refer to Table 1 for detailed line-by-line estimates.
- Market focus is on FY26 ROTE and total return guidance: The key investor focus will be on FY26 guidance for ROTE and total return. JPMe and consensus expect FY26 normalized ROTE to contract to 13.5%/13.3% from 13.8%/13.9% in FY25. If the company commits to maintaining flattish or even mid-teens ROTE, we would view this as a positive surprise. On total return (dividends plus SBB), both JPMe and consensus forecast $11.6bn from 2024 to 2026 (Table 3), exceeding company guidance of >$8bn. We expect STAN to update its medium-term total return guidance (2026-28) at its Investor Day in May, rather than during this week's 4Q25 briefing. However, if management provides any three-year total return guidance this week, a target of $12bn would be in line with consensus, with any figure above that seen as a positive surprise.
- 2026 total return: dividend vs. buyback mix: While JPMe and consensus expect similar total return levels in 2026, the mix differs. JPM anticipates STAN will increase its cash dividend payout while reducing share buybacks, given the stock is trading above book value, a view not yet reflected in consensus. JPMe/consensus forecast FY26 dividends of $1.9bn/$1.2bn and share buybacks of $2.0bn/$2.6bn, resulting in total returns of $3.9bn/$3.8bn, or approximately 72% of FY26 normalized profits, broadly in line with FY25 levels of 71%/73% (Table 3). Our conversation with clients indicated mixed feedback on the potential change in total return mix.

Investment Thesis

We see StanChart as undervalued relative to its sector/EM peers at 1.1x PTNAV with significant earnings growth potential supported by structural growth drivers and relatively high capital return. We expect a ~7% revenue CAGR over '23-26E, driven by non-NII led by Wealth and Financial Markets, with the group's previous investments producing revenue momentum. NII is likely to be under pressure in '25-26E owing to lower rates, although this would be partly offset by volume growth, increased structural hedging and assertively managed deposits pass-through. We estimate a ~4% cost CAGR with the group's restructuring program likely to drive material cost saves by FY26, supporting a PPOP CAGR of 12% and RoTE reaching 13.8%/13.5% in FY25E/26E. Capital remains strong; we forecast distributions of ~$10.9bn compared to group targets of >$8bn in '24-26E and expect a further $1.5bn of share buybacks to be announced with FY25 results. CRE remains a risk, although we see the group as better positioned compared to peers and pro-actively managing higher-risk exposures lower. Maintain OW.

Valuation

Our Dec-26 PT of HK$265 is derived from our DDM analysis with NAV discounted back to Dec-26 from FY28E and a fair P/B of 1.5x. Our key assumptions are a normalized ROE of 11.8% and a cost of capital of 9.3%.

Risks to Rating and Price Target

The key downside risks to our rating and price target include:

- Macroeconomic risks: Being an EM-focused bank, StanChart is exposed to general macroeconomic risk in EM such as slowdowns, inflationary pressures, depreciation of EM currencies and cross-border and political risks. Potential weakness in China macro and regional sovereign continue to be risks towards revenues and impairments in the near term, as well as geopolitical tensions creating a potential headwind.
- Provisioning outlook: We expect provisions to grow to above normalized levels by 2025 given growing pressures in the economic environment. An increase or decrease in provisions as a result of the economic outlook or with regards to specific cases poses a risk to our forecasts.
- Regulatory uncertainty: Standard Chartered remains exposed to the changes in the regulatory environment in the UK with capital requirements being set by the PRA in the UK. While StanChart has limited UK exposure, the group is still subject to regulatory changes such as Basel 4 and BoE stress tests.

Explanation of Equity Research Ratings, Designations and Analyst(s) Coverage Universe:

J.P. Morgan uses the following rating system: Overweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will outperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); Neutral (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will perform in line with the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); and Underweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe. NR is Not Rated. In this case, J.P. Morgan has removed the rating and, if applicable, the price target, for this stock because of either a lack of a sufficient fundamental basis or for legal, regulatory or policy reasons. The previous rating and, if applicable, the price target, no longer should be relied upon. An NR designation is not a recommendation or a rating. Some stocks under coverage have a rating but no price target; in these cases, we expect the stock will outperform/perform in line/underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe of the relevant duration of the region. In our Asia (ex-Australia and ex-India) and U.K. small- and mid-cap Equity Research, each stock's expected total return is compared to the expected total return of a benchmark country market index, not to those Research Analysts' coverage universe. If it does not appear in the Important Disclosures section of this report, the certifying Research Analyst's coverage universe can be found on J.P. Morgan's Research website, <https://www.jpmorganmarkets.com>.
