

Standard Chartered Plc (HK) (2888)

Investor day expectation: >15% ROTE underpinned by non-NII and operating leverage

StanChart's Investor Day on 19 May will outline new targets for 2028E, where we expect a >15% stated ROTE target for 2028E to be set (JPMe 15.5%, cons 15.1% 2028E). We expect this to be driven by stable NII (JPMe: 25a-28e CAGR 2.6%) and robust non-NII (JPMe: 25a-28e CAGR 8.7%). The rise in affluent clients' AUM, increased cross-selling among CIB clients, and network effects should drive non-NII growth. We expect operating leverage to remain a focus, with a 2025-28E revenue CAGR of 5.5% outpacing cost CAGR at 1.0%, driving a structurally lower CIR towards 56% in 2028E (vs 63% in FY25). Under a bull case scenario of +6% revenue CAGR 2025-2028E, this would produce a ROTE of 16%+ in 2028E. On total return, we expect total buybacks of $7bn, a 35% dividend payout ratio (vs consensus c.30%), and total distributions of $13.0bn over 2026-28E (cons $12.9bn), resulting in a total return of ~8% per year on average from 26e-28e. We remain OW. Given STAN's strong beat in 1Q26 results (link) vs HSBC's mixed 1Q26 print (link), we expect STAN to outperform HSBC in the near-term; if STAN delivers an upside surprise on Investor Day, this could drive further outperformance.

- >15% ROTE with strategic progress to continue along the same path: We see stated ROTE targeted at >15% 28E, with a steady improvement from 11.9% FY25, reflecting a continuation of the strategic progress the Group has made in recent years. This includes: 1) a repositioning of the Wealth & Retail Banking segment towards Affluent clients, which we expect to grow to 80% of segment income 28E compared to c70% at present; 2) net new money targets potentially being upgraded from $200bn 25-30E, with 35% of the 6Y target (c$70bn) already gathered in the past 5Qs, i.e. well ahead of plan; 3) greater gearing to financial institutions towards 65-70% of segment income 28E compared to 60% at present, with a focus on balance sheet velocity to manage capital. Beyond 2028E, targeted growth in higher margin segments and maturing investments (e.g. Relationship Managers in Wealth) will support a higher ROTE trajectory.
- Revenue growth targets of 5-7% extended to the next leg: The group has targeted 5-7% medium-term revenue growth since 2017, which we expect to be extended across the 25-28E plan. In the assumed declining rate environment, we forecast a +5.5% revenue CAGR for 26-28E (vs cons. +5.4% CAGR) driven by non-NII at +8.7% CAGR (incl. Wealth at 18%) but at a decelerating pace, supported by improving outlook for NII although at a slower 2.6% CAGR (vs cons 2.1%).
- Operating leverage focus with stated 1% cost CAGR: While we don't expect another material restructuring programme, we expect BAU restructuring and cost saves, alongside c4-5% inflation/business-related growth to drive a cost base of $13.6bn 28E, implying +1.0% cost CAGR

25-28E. This drives pre-provision operating profit CAGR of +12% and a structurally lower CIR of 56% 28E - last seen at similar levels pre-2014.

- CET1 operating range potentially narrowing to 13-13.5%, compared to the current target range of 13-14%, with 1Q26 CET1 of 13.4% the lowest level in several years. We forecast a total yield of 8%/y on average including a 4%/y dividend yield at a 35% dividend payout, with c$1.2bn of excess capital above 13.0% CET1 28E available for additional B/S growth, investments or distributions.

Path to >15% ROTE

We see a path towards >15% stated ROTE by 2028E in our base case, from 11.9% FY25, evidencing significant progress from loss-making operations 10 years ago. This assumes a slightly declining interest rate environment across the next 3 years, resulting in revenue CAGR of +5.5% for 26-28E, driven by non-NII at a +9% CAGR supported by an improving outlook for NII, although at a slower +3% CAGR. We expect a focus on operating leverage through the next strategy cycle, with the CIR to decline to c56% (vs 63% at present). Overall, this drives a net profit base of $6.5bn 28E (vs $4.6bn FY25) alongside slight TNAV growth (although with TNAV/sh showing an +8% CAGR 25-28E), resulting in ROTE of 15.5% 28E.

In a bull-case scenario, assuming: 1) total revenue growth of 6% (although still only at the mid-point of the Group's revenue growth target range of recent years of 5-7%) reflecting stronger Wealth and CIB momentum; 2) underlying cost growth of 5%/y in FY27/28E driving reported cost growth CAGR at 1% 25-28E, in line with current forecasts; 3) CET1 targeted at 13.0% across FY27-28E to drive additional distributions - we see ROTE growing to 16.3% 28E with a total average yield including buybacks of 9.0% across 26-28E.

Table 1: Forecasts vs bull case scenario of a stronger revenue outlook

	Forecasts	Bull case scenario

Reported cost CAGR 25-28E	1.0%	1.0%
ROTE 2028E	15.5%	16.3%
Average annual yield across 26-28E	8.0%	9.0%

Source: Bull case scenario assumes total revenue growth of 6% and additional distributions for CET1 at 13.0% in FY27/28E.

5-7% revenue CAGR target likely to be extended for the medium term

StanChart has targeted a 5-7% revenue CAGR medium term since 2017. In our view, the group has broadly met these targets outside of the 2020-21 pandemic period.

We expect a 5-7% revenue growth target to be reaffirmed for the medium term, with the Group's investor day. We forecast +5.5% revenue CAGR (fx-adjusted) across 25-28E and at the lower end of these targets, driven by non-NII at an +8.7% CAGR, although with the pace of growth reducing over time. In contrast, we forecast NII at +2.7% CAGR, but at an increasing pace across the plan given the reduced drag from interest rates.

Wealth to remain a key driver of revenue growth, with upside risk to $200bn net new money targets

Wealth has been a significant driver of income growth in recent years, representing 15% of group revenues FY25 (18% for 1Q26) compared to 11% 3Y ago. With Wealth revenue CAGR at +18% for 25-28E, we see Wealth representing 21% of group revenues by 28E. The group targets $200bn of net new money across 25-30E (and a double-digit % CAGR in Wealth Solutions Income), although with c$70bn gathered in the 5 quarters to 1Q26 (i.e. 35% of the 6Y target gathered in 5Qs), we see upside risk to this NNM target, which could be refreshed in May. This is supported by Affluent new-to-bank client growth, with 275k clients onboarded in 2025 and >60k/ quarter.

Table 2: Wealth revenues, AUM and Net new money

Affluent income to grow towards c80% of Retail income and drive a continued valuation re-rating

The group has also repositioned itself away from mass-market Retail activities through an emphasis on Affluent income generation (e.g. Wealth) as well as Retail disposals (e.g. exits from select African and Middle Eastern markets, Indonesia retail loans, Malaysia personal loans, India personal loans). Affluent income now represents 70% of Wealth & Retail Banking income (vs 64% in FY23) compared to medium term target of 75%, which we expect to increase towards c80% by 28E, given the pace of Wealth income growth and the $1.5bn investment into the Affluent business across 25-30E (split across people, technology, and marketing/client centers). We note that income RoRWA for the Affluent segment is >2.5x greater than the overall Group, as at 9M24.

CIB focus on Financial Institutions to continue towards 65-70% of total CIB income

Financial Institutions (FI) represent c54% of total CIB income (vs 43% in 2019) with the Group on track to its c60% medium term target. Given the pace of progress, we expect this target to be increased and extended towards 65-70% of CIB income. FI income generates a c90bps higher income RoRWA compared to the overall CIB (as at FY24), and further gearing will likely drive higher returns for the division and Group going forward.

In particular, we see greater opportunities in: 1) the originate to distribute segment, which allows for income growth to diverge from loan growth given the Fee income potential; 2) cross-sell, to further increase income per client which offers significant multiplier potentials (e.g. clients with 3-10 products have a 9x income multiplier and clients with >10 products have a 49x income multiplier vs clients with <3 products); 3) network income given the Group's unique geographic presence particularly in Asian/Middle-Eastern and African markets.

Cost CAGR at +1% for 25-28E towards a c$13.6bn cost base 28E

The group has guided to an FY26E cost base of c$13.2bn which implies c4.5% underlying cost inflation (including business growth), excluding c$0.4bn cost saves from the Fit for Save programme and c$0.8bn restructuring costs - both of which management has provided guidance for. We assume a similar level of underlying cost inflation in 27/28E at +5.0% with headline inflation expected to ease but investment growth to strengthen. This drives a +1% cost CAGR across 25-28E, with a cost base of $13.6bn in 28E.

Table 3: Stated cost growth forecast at +1.0% CAGR 25-28E

US$ mn	FY25	FY26E	FY27E	FY28E	CAGR 25-28E

JPM, stated cost forecasts	-	13,232	12,947	13,585	1.0%

Source: J.P. Morgan estimates, Company data.

In our view, the $1.3bn Fit for Growth across 24-26E has been executed well across >300 granular initiatives, split across organisational design (c28% of expected cost saves), process simplification (c22%), service delivery and platforms (c32%) and tech simplification (c18%). However, with the programme nearing completion this year, we don't expect another significant restructuring programme to be announced at the Investor Day but instead expect an ongoing c$0.2bn of restructuring to be taken to drive BAU cost saves.

Capital allocation to focus on growth investments alongside growing distributions towards a 70-75% total payout

With ROTE forecast to grow to c15% 28E, we see organic capital generation from profits growing from c190bps CET1 in 26E to c220bps 28E. We see this as funding a dividend payout ratio of 35%/y and a step up from a relatively low payout ratio in recent years, driving a dividend yield of 3.8%/y. We also expect a total payout ratio of 70-75%/ y including buybacks with a total yield of 8.0%/y. Across 26-28E, we forecast total shareholder distributions of $13.0bn, worth 23% of market cap.

Table 4: Shareholder distributions across 26-28E

US$ bn	2024	2025	2026E	2027E	2028E

Dividend payout	27%	32%	35%	35%	35%
Total payout	108%	92%	73%	75%	72%

Source: J.P. Morgan estimates, Company data.

The group continues to target a CET1 range of 13-14%, although we note that 1Q26 at 13.4% CET1 was the lowest CET1 print in several years. This gives us greater confidence in the Group operating towards the lower end of this target range at 13-13.5% going forward, although we don't expect the Group to operate below 13% given management's previous conservative discussions on this topic (e.g. the consideration of multiple stakeholders including rating agencies, debt investors). We forecast CET1 proforma for buybacks at 13.4% in FY28E, which offers c$1.2bn of excess capital above 13.0% CET1 for further balance sheet growth, investments or distributions.

Investment Thesis

We view StanChart as undervalued relative to the sector/EM peers at 1.3x PTNAV 27E with significant earnings growth potential supported by structural growth drivers and relatively high capital return. With the Group's 24-26E targets already achieved by FY25 across revenues and distributions, we now forecast ~6% revenue CAGR across '25-28E driven by non-NII in '26E, and broadening out to both NII/non-NII in outer years. We see this led by Wealth (driven by Affluent segment opportunities), Financial Markets (alongside cross-border income) and Banking. We expect NII to be largely flat in FY26 y/y due to lower rates and pass throughs offset by volume growth. We expect a ~1% cost CAGR for '25-28E as we expect growing investments in the future to capitalize on productivity and revenue opportunities, with positive operating leverage annually and the CIR to decline towards mid-50s. Overall, we expect stated ROTE to grow to ~15%, alongside a 35% dividend payout ratio and $2-2.5bn/y buybacks, offering a total yield of 7-9%/y. Maintain OW.

Valuation

Our Dec-26 PT of HK$275 is derived from our DDM analysis with NAV discounted back to Dec-26 from FY28E and a fair P/B of 1.5x. Our key assumptions are a normalized ROE of 12.1% and a cost of capital of 9.3%.

Risks to Rating and Price Target

The key downside risks to our rating and price target include:

- Macroeconomic risks: Being an EM-focused bank, StanChart is exposed to general macroeconomic risk in EM such as slowdowns, inflationary pressures, depreciation of EM currencies and cross-border and political risks. Potential weakness in China macro and regional sovereign continue to be risks towards revenues and impairments in the near term, as well as geopolitical tensions creating a potential headwind.
- Provisioning outlook: We expect provisions to grow to above normalized levels by 2025 given growing pressures in the economic environment. An increase or decrease in provisions as a result of the economic outlook or with regards to specific cases poses a risk to our forecasts.
- Regulatory uncertainty: Standard Chartered remains exposed to the changes in the regulatory environment in the UK with capital requirements being set by the PRA in the UK. While StanChart has limited UK exposure, the group is still subject to regulatory changes such as Basel 4 and BoE stress tests.

Morgan has removed the rating and, if applicable, the price target, for this stock because of either a lack of a sufficient fundamental basis or for legal, regulatory or policy reasons. The previous rating and, if applicable, the price target, no longer should be relied upon. An NR designation is not a recommendation or a rating. Some stocks under coverage have a rating but no price target; in these cases, we expect the stock will outperform/perform in line/underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe of the relevant duration of the region. In our Asia (ex-Australia and ex-India) and U.K. small- and mid-cap Equity Research, each stock's expected total return is compared to the expected total return of a benchmark country market index, not to those Research Analysts' coverage universe. If it does not appear in the Important Disclosures section of this report, the certifying Research Analyst's coverage universe can be found on J.P. Morgan's Research website, <https://www.jpmorganmarkets.com>.
