

SINGAPORE BANKS

2Q26 preview: Stable sequentially, outlook more positive on higher rates and robust WM

Outlook improving on NII with supportive WM momentum

We raise our EPS forecasts by 4%/8%/6% for FY26E–28E as the outlook for Singapore banks has become more constructive and are now 1%/5%/2% above Visible Alpha Consensus Data for FY26–28E. Since 1Q26 results, the rates backdrop has improved meaningfully, with Fed Funds Futures now implying a Fed hike in Dec-26 versus expectations of no further rate moves previously. Higher HIBOR, a steeper yield curve and continued strength in system loan and deposit growth together support a better NII outlook than previously anticipated. Reflecting this, we raise our 2026–28 NII forecasts by c.3–8% across the sector and see scope for banks to become more positive on their NII guidance in the coming quarters. At the same time, wealth management momentum remains robust. SGX and HKEX ADT increased 6% and 5% qoq, respectively, while market conditions remained supportive, aided by continued strength in the STI and S&P 500. IPO activity was also healthy, while management commentary continues to point to resilient NNM trends and wealth activity despite recent changes to China's cross-border regulations.

Stable sequentially, robust YoY growth supported by fees

Singapore banks will report 2Q26 results starting with DBS on 6 Aug, followed by OCBC and UOB on 7 Aug. We expect earnings to remain broadly stable qoq, supported by (1) resilient NII, with lower average 3M SORA offset by higher HIBOR and continued loan and deposit growth; (2) robust fee income from wealth management; (3) stable opex, while (4) credit costs are set to be mixed – stable at DBS, lower at OCBC and higher at UOB as NPL formation normalises. On a yoy basis, earnings growth should remain supported by stronger fee income and non NII, particularly from wealth and treasury related activities. We forecast UOB to deliver the strongest core net profit growth at +8.6% yoy, while DBS is likely to see the weakest at +3.2% yoy.

Remain positive on Singapore banks; Buy DBS, OCBC

Singapore banks' share prices have risen by an average of 36% in 2Q26 and 33% in 2026 YTD, with OCBC outperforming (+13% in 2Q26; +46% YTD), followed by DBS (+15% in 2Q26; +29% in YTD) and UOB (+8% in 2Q26; +24% YTD), supported by stronger fundamentals, a more favourable rates outlook and continued wealth growth. Despite higher valuations, we remain positive as profitability should improve supported by higher rates and fee growth. We see banks with solid fee and funding franchises as better positioned. We remain Buy on DBS and OCBC.

NII: Rate outlook improves, lifting earnings forecasts

The rate outlook has turned more hawkish, with Fed Funds Futures now implying a Fed hike by Dec-26, versus expectations of no further rate moves following 1Q26 results for the Singapore banks. This has been accompanied by rising HIBOR throughout the quarter and a steeper US yield curve, resulting in a more constructive rates backdrop than previously anticipated. Average 3M HIBOR rose to 2.73% (+7bps qoq), with end-June 3M HIBOR reaching 2.97%, while average 3M SORA declined to 1.06% (-7bps qoq), with most of the improvement in rates occurring towards the end of the quarter and into July.

This compares favourably with both our and management's assumptions following 1Q26 results, when DBS and OCBC revised their NII outlook lower. DBS reduced its 4Q26 SORA assumption to 1.00% from 1.25% and removed references to two Fed rate cuts, while OCBC lowered its SORA assumption to 1.20% from 1.40% and specified one Fed rate cut by 4Q26. Given the more constructive rates backdrop today, we see scope for banks to become more positive on their NII outlook and guidance in the coming quarter.

To assess the impact on NII, we refresh our analysis using banks' disclosed NII sensitivities, fixed rate asset repricing schedules, balance sheet growth assumptions and excess deposit generation. We now assume an average 3M SORA of 1.1% (vs. 0.99%) for 2026, one Fed hike in Dec-26 (vs. no rate moves previously), average 3M HIBOR of 2.9% (vs. 2.48%). Based on these assumptions, we estimate a 2026 NII impact of between -0.6% and +1.8% across the Singapore banks, with UOB benefiting the most from lower deposit costs following the repricing of UOB One deposit accounts towards the end of last year, while DBS remains the most exposed to fixed rate asset repricing. This represents a meaningful improvement versus our prior analysis and reflects a higher-for-longer rate environment.

Reflecting the revised assumptions, we raise our 2026-28 NII forecasts by c.3-8% across the Singapore banks. We also assume stronger deposit and loan growth, as seen from continued strong system deposit and loan growth. For 2Q26, however, we continue to expect NIM compression of up to 4bps qoq, reflecting the lower average SORA realised during the quarter as well as continued deployment of excess liquidity into HQLA assets - while the latter is dilutive to NIM, it should remain supportive for NII growth.

Wealth Management: Momentum not slowing down, still a strong quarter

We expect wealth management (WM) fee income to remain robust in 2Q26, despite expectations for a modest slowdown sequentially given the seasonally weaker quarter and drag from the Iran war into the early parts of 2Q. Market activity remained supportive, with SGX and HKEX ADT up 6% and 5% qoq, respectively, on an already high base following strong 1Q26 growth of 39% and 20%. IPO activity in the US, including transactions such as SpaceX, should also have supported client activity. This remains relevant given the historical correlation between wealth activity and exchange turnover. Broader market conditions were also supportive, with continued strength in the STI and S&P 500, which typically supports wealth management activity with a lag, although there were pockets of weakness in the HSI during the quarter. In addition, management commentary continues to point to healthy momentum across wealth management activities and NNM growth through 2Q26. This suggests activity levels have remained resilient despite concerns around recent China cross border regulations. As such, we raise our 2Q forecast for WM across the banks which translates to positive fee income growth of up to 27% yoy and stable qoq performance across the Singapore banks.

2Q26 preview: Stable sequentially, robust YoY growth supported by fees

Singapore banks will report 2Q26 results starting with DBS on 6 Aug, followed by OCBC and UOB on 7 Aug. We expect earnings to remain broadly stable qoq, supported by (1) resilient NII, as lower average 3M SORA (-7bps qoq) is largely offset by higher 3M HIBOR (+7bps qoq), together with continued balance sheet growth from healthy deposit and loan expansion; (2) robust fee income, driven by sustained wealth management activity and healthy market turnover; and (3) largely stable opex. Credit costs should remain stable at DBS and decline at OCBC, as we do not anticipate any additional prudent provisioning related to the Iran conflict. For UOB, we continue to forecast credit costs at the upper end of management's guidance range, reflecting our conservative assumption that the bank maintains its c.1% general provision buffer. On a yoy basis, earnings growth should remain robust, supported by stronger fee income and non-NII, particularly from wealth management and treasury-related activities. Overall, we forecast UOB to deliver the strongest core net profit growth (+8.6% yoy), while DBS is likely to see the weakest (+3.2% yoy).

- DBS: We forecast 2Q26E net profit of S$2,914mn (-0.5% qoq / +3.2% yoy). Earnings are expected to maintain strength seen in 1Q26, driven by largely stable NII and robust fee income alongside stronger trading volumes. We forecast NIM to decline 3bps qoq to 1.86%, reflecting the 7bps qoq decline in 3M SORA offset by higher 3M HIBOR and continued strong deposit and loan growth. Overall non-NII expected to remain robust at -2.0% qoq, with fee income flattish qoq despite a seasonally weaker quarter while other non-NII is expected to normalise. On a yoy basis, non-NII remains robust at +15.4% yoy, supported by continued strength in wealth-related activities and improved market activity, with fee income growing 27.3% yoy and other non-NII flat yoy. Opex is expected to increase 2.6% qoq, resulting in still strong PPOP of S$3.58bn (-1.9% qoq). We forecast credit costs of 17bps, broadly stable qoq. Overall, we expect ROE to remain strong at 16.7% (-21bps qoq).
- OCBC: We forecast 2Q26E net profit of S$1,959mn (-0.8% qoq / +7.9% yoy).

Earnings should remain resilient qoq, with NII broadly flat, and seasonally weaker non-NII offset by lower opex and credit cost. We forecast NIM to decline 4bps qoq to 1.72%, impacted by rates similar to DBS but largely offset by 1.6% qoq loan growth. We anticipate non-NII to decline 4.3% qoq due to lower insurance income mainly due to one-off large CSM release in 1Q, and we see fee income to be flattish with strong WM momentum and other non-NII as well to hold up. Opex is expected to decline 2.5% qoq, supporting a largely stable PPOP of S$2.31bn (-0.5% qoq). We forecast credit costs of 20bps (-5bps qoq), reflecting the normalization post management overlays recorded in 1Q26. Overall, we expect ROE to remain robust at 12.7% (-23bps qoq).

- UOB: We forecast 2Q26E net profit of S$1,609mn (+12.0% qoq / +20.3% yoy), supported by one-off divestment gain. On a core net profit basis, we expect stable qoq profit of S$1,453mn (+1.1% qoq / +8.6% yoy) supported by resilient NII and non-NII, further offset by higher credit costs. NII is forecast to increase 0.9% qoq, supported by 0.7% qoq loan growth, while reported NIM remains broadly stable at 1.82% reflecting cuts in UOB OneAccount to offset the lower average 3M SORA (-7bps qoq). Non-NII is expected to improve +27.5% qoq, driven by one-off gain in other non-interest income (+64.8% qoq) alongside robust fee income (+0.4% qoq) on elevated markets activity. Opex is forecast to increase 1.2% qoq, and PPOP expect to grow at +16% qoq to S$2.21bn. We forecast credit costs of 30bps (+7bps qoq) at the upper end of management's guidance range, reflecting our view that NPL formation rate last quarter was below normalised historical level and that bank would conservatively look to maintain its c.1% general provision buffer. Overall, we expect ROE to moderate to 11.3% (-34bps qoq), largely reflecting higher provisions despite healthy underlying operating momentum.

Revising estimates by up to 8% and TP up by 16-26%

Across our three Singapore banks, we revise up 2026E-28E EPS by up to c.8%, driven mainly by (1) Higher NII forecast to reflect improved rate outlook from a more hawkish backdrop, with current Fed Forward Rate (FFR) now implying one Fed hike in Dec-26 versus prior expectations of no rate moves, higher HIBOR and also anticipation of higher SORA; (2) Higher yoy fee growth to reflect more constructive outlook, supported by management commentary of healthy 2Q26 wealth momentum, despite seasonally weaker quarter, alongside continued qoq growth in SGX and HKEX average daily turnover (ADT); (3) Lower credit cost, as we expect stable underlying credit trends, with banks indicating little evidence of stress across their portfolios alongside pre-emptive provisions taken in 1Q for some. Our two-stage DDM valuation methodology is unchanged. Our target prices for the three banks have been adjusted upwards by 16-26%, incorporating revised earnings forecasts.

GS Factor Profile

The Goldman Sachs Factor Profile provides investment context for a stock by comparing key attributes to the market (i.e. our universe of rated stocks) and its sector peers. The four key attributes depicted are: Growth, Financial Returns, Multiple (e.g. valuation) and Integrated (a composite of Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple). Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple are calculated by using normalized ranks for specific metrics for each stock. The normalized ranks for the metrics are then averaged and converted into percentiles for the relevant attribute. The precise calculation of each metric may vary depending on the fiscal year, industry and region, but the standard approach is as follows:

Growth is based on a stock's forward-looking sales growth, EBITDA growth and EPS growth (for financial stocks, only EPS and sales growth), with a higher percentile indicating a higher growth company. Financial Returns is based on a stock's forward-looking ROE, ROCE and CROCI (for financial stocks, only ROE), with a higher percentile indicating a company with higher financial returns. Multiple is based on a stock's forward-looking P/E, P/B, price/dividend (P/D), EV/EBITDA, EV/FCF and EV/Debt Adjusted Cash Flow (DACF) (for financial stocks, only P/E, P/B and P/D), with a higher percentile indicating a stock trading at a higher multiple. The Integrated percentile is calculated as the average of the Growth percentile, Financial Returns percentile and (100% - Multiple percentile).

Financial Returns and Multiple use the Goldman Sachs analyst forecasts at the fiscal year-end at least three quarters in the future. Growth uses inputs for the fiscal year at least seven quarters in the future compared with the year at least three quarters in the future (on a per-share basis for all metrics).

M&A Rank

Across our global coverage, we examine stocks using an M&A framework, considering both qualitative factors and quantitative factors (which may vary across sectors and regions) to incorporate the potential that certain companies could be acquired. We then assign a M&A rank as a means of scoring companies under our rated coverage from 1 to 3, with 1 representing high (30%-50%) probability of the company becoming an acquisition target, 2 representing medium (15%-30%) probability and 3 representing low (0%-15%) probability. For companies ranked 1 or 2, in line with our standard departmental guidelines we incorporate an M&A component into our target price. M&A rank of 3 is considered immaterial and therefore does not factor into our price target, and may or may not be discussed in research.

Ratings, coverage universe and related definitions

Buy (B), Neutral (N), Sell (S) Analysts recommend stocks as Buys or Sells for inclusion on various regional Investment Lists. Being assigned a Buy or Sell on an Investment List is determined by a stock's total return potential relative to its coverage universe. Any stock not assigned as a Buy or a Sell on an Investment List with an active rating (i.e., a stock that is not Rating Suspended, Not Rated, Early-Stage Biotech, Coverage Suspended or Not Covered), is deemed Neutral. Each region manages Regional Conviction Lists, which are selected from Buy rated stocks on the respective region's Investment Lists and represent investment recommendations focused on the size of the total return potential and/or the likelihood of the realization of the return across their respective areas of coverage. The addition or removal of stocks from such Conviction Lists are managed by the Investment Review Committee or other designated committee in each respective region and do not represent a change in the analysts' investment rating for such stocks.

Total return potential represents the upside or downside differential between the current share price and the price target, including all paid or anticipated dividends, expected during the time horizon associated with the price target. Price targets are required for all covered stocks. The total return potential, price target and associated time horizon are stated in each report adding or reiterating an Investment List membership.

Coverage Universe: A list of all stocks in each coverage universe is available by primary analyst, stock and coverage universe at <https://www.gs.com/research/hedge.html>.

Not Rated (NR). The investment rating, target price and earnings estimates (where relevant) are removed pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when Goldman Sachs is acting in an advisory capacity in a merger or in a strategic transaction involving this company, when there are legal, regulatory or policy constraints due to Goldman Sachs' involvement in a transaction, and in certain other circumstances. Early-Stage Biotech (ES). An investment rating and a target price are not assigned pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when this company has neither a drug, treatment or medical device that has passed a Phase II clinical trial nor a license to distribute a post-Phase II drug, treatment or medical device. Rating Suspended (RS). Goldman Sachs Research has suspended the investment rating and price target for this stock, because there is not a sufficient fundamental basis for determining an investment rating or target price. The previous investment rating and target price, if any, are no longer in effect for this stock and should not be relied upon. Coverage Suspended (CS). Goldman Sachs has suspended coverage of this company. Not Covered (NC). Goldman Sachs does not cover this company.
