

HSBC Holdings plc

Singapore Life sale in line with the Group's strategic direction

HSBC announced the sale of 100% of HSBC Life Singapore to Allianz for US $2.1bn, implying a valuation of c.1.55x HSBC Life Singapore's FY25 comprehensive equity, worth up to 15bps CET1 upon completion in 1H27. The Group will also enter into a 15-year exclusive bancassurance agreement with Allianz post-transaction, allowing HSBC to continue offering insurance products to its retail and wealth management clients in Singapore and therefore we see a limited impact to client servicing. This transaction is in line with press reports earlier in the year (see here) and in line with the Group's strategy to simplify its operations, with 13 exit transactions already announced over the past two years (including HSBC Life Singapore). HSBC Life Singapore has limited scale with a c6% market share and a market position outside of the top 4 in Singapore (trailing Great Eastern, AIA, Prudential and Manulife) despite being the #1 insurer for HNW clients, and therefore this exit makes strategic sense, in our view, with capital likely to be diverted to other high-returning business areas with stronger market positions. Financially, the Group expects to see a gain of $1.8bn at a valuation of c.1.55x comprehensive equity, compared to the Group's expansion acquisition of AXA Singapore in 2021 at 1.2x trailing net assets. We expect CET1 of 14.2% in 2Q (pro-forma 14.35% for HSBC Singapore Life), supporting our view of a return to share buybacks at $2bn this quarter. We remain Neutral, with the stock trading on 10.9x PE, 2.0x PTNAV for an RoTE of 18.7% 2027E.

- Financial impact on HSBC: HSBC expects to recognise a US$1.8bn pre-tax disposal gain upon completion, worth c4% of Adj PBT and c5% of Net profits 27E, and will be categorised as a material notable item with no material tax impact expected. The transaction is expected to increase the Group's CET1 ratio by up to 15bps upon completion in 1H27. HSBC reaffirmed its commitment to Singapore, highlighting that Singapore remains critical to HSBC's strategy and is a key focus for investment and growth for the Group. HSBC will receive an initial S$0.2bn (c$0.2bn USD) lump sum cash payment from Allianz reflecting the exclusive terms of the agreement, which will be recognised in the income statement over the term of the distribution agreement, along with the contractual variable additional consideration for performance.
- Introduction to HSBC Life Singapore. HSBC provides life and health insurance in Singapore. HSBC Life Singapore held around 6% of Singapore's life insurance market share in 2025, based on Life Insurance Association Singapore industry data. In FY25, its comprehensive equity was US$1.4bn; it generated S$678m, or ~US$526m, of insurance revenue and S$118m, or ~US$90m, of PBT, equivalent to around 0.7% of HSBC Group revenue and 0.2% of clean PBT – we highlight financials below. Its contribution to HSBC's insurance franchise was more meaningful, representing ~9% of the Group's US$14.6bn insurance manufacturing CSM balance.

Summary Investment Thesis and Valuation

Investment Thesis

While we rate HSBC's management highly and believe the group is on the right strategic path over the longer term, we see the investment case as balanced with the stock rated Neutral and trading at a premium to UK/European peers '27, although with ongoing uncertainties including from the Middle East. We see the stability in the rate environment and improving volume growth driving Banking NII CAGR of 4% 25-28E, supported by hedge reinvestments in the near term. The outlook for Fee income is also positive supported by structural Asia trends, with total income growth expected at c4% 28E (vs 5% guidance) and c5% CAGR 25-28E. We see a disciplined trajectory for costs with the Group's $1.5bn simplification plan ahead of plan and the cost re-allocation plan driving more investment into high growth areas (e.g. Wealth), driving cost CAGR of c4% 25-28E. Wealth remains a strong growth engine, which we forecast at a c12% CAGR, while we continue to highly value the Group's deposit gathering franchise. While CRE market trends are becoming more encouraging, risks remain, which we see as keeping CoR at the high end of normalised levels in the near term. Overall, we see underlying ROTE at c18-19% annually across 26-28E (vs targets of 17% or better), with buybacks likely to restart with 2Q and a total yield of c8% 27-28E

Valuation

Our sum-of-the-parts-based Dec-27 price target for HSBC of 1,380p is calculated using a blend of P/E (divisional and regional) on our 2028 estimates, with excess capital at 1x above 14% CT1.

Risks to Rating and Price Target

- Macro-economic risks: HSBC is exposed to GDP growth in HK, SAR and Greater China, and the UK, as well as FX and cross-border and political risks, which could pose both upside and downside risks. Similarly, the global interest rate and inflation outlook could have an impact on group margins, which may differ from expectations.
- EM outlook: We expect the asset quality outlook to deteriorate and forecast CoR growth at the top end of normalised levels in the medium term – with both upside and downside risks to this. This includes specific areas such as China/HK CRE where there are early signs of a positive turn, but this remains volatile. Further, HSBC's stake in BoCom could present downside risk from a revaluation in the current environment.

- Regulatory risks: Some of the regulatory risks include Basel 4, performance in BoE stress tests/CCAR, changes in capital regime, etc.

The chart(s) show J.P. Morgan's continuing coverage of the stocks; the current analysts may or may not have covered it over the entire period.
J.P. Morgan ratings or designations: OW = Overweight, N= Neutral, UW = Underweight, NR = Not Rated

Explanation of Equity Research Ratings, Designations and Analyst(s) Coverage Universe:

J.P. Morgan uses the following rating system: Overweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will outperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); Neutral (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will perform in line with the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); and Underweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe. NR is Not Rated. In this case, J.P. Morgan has removed the rating and, if applicable, the price target, for this stock because of either a lack of a sufficient fundamental basis or for legal, regulatory or policy reasons. The previous rating and, if applicable, the price target, no longer should be relied upon. An NR designation is not a recommendation or a rating. Some stocks under coverage have a rating but no price target; in these cases, we expect the stock will outperform/perform in line/underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe of the relevant duration of the region. In our Asia (ex-Australia and ex-India) and U.K. small- and mid-cap Equity Research, each stock's expected total return is compared to the expected total return of a benchmark country market index, not to those Research Analysts' coverage universe. If it does not appear in the Important Disclosures section of this report, the certifying Research Analyst's coverage universe can be found on J.P. Morgan's Research website, <https://www.jpmorganmarkets.com>.

Coverage Universe: Abouhossein, Kian : Barclays (BARC.L), Commerzbank (CBKG.DE), Deutsche Bank (DBKGn.DE), Goldman Sachs (GS), HSBC Holdings plc (HSBA.L), Morgan Stanley (MS), Santander (SAN.MC), Standard Chartered (STAN.L), UBS (UBSG.S)
